EMORY LAW SCHOOL PUBLIC INTEREST LAW PROGRAM PUBLIC INTEREST DINNER SERIES

Dear Emory Law Student:

Congratulations on your admission to Emory Law School and your decision to join us. We encourage you to take a few minutes to consider applying to join a small group of your student colleagues and several faculty members for the school-sponsored Public Interest Law Dinner Series. Participants in the dinner series will have the opportunity to meet faculty, other students, and invited guests interested in public interest law, and to discuss public interest law opportunities and challenges, in a collegial and informal environment. We anticipate having two meetings each semester, either at the law school or at a nearby home or restaurant. A brief background reading may be distributed for reading prior to these dinners. An opening reception for those students who are selected with faculty and students who have participated in the dinner series in the past will be scheduled early in the fall.

If you are interested, please send a brief email message to us care of Professor Janette Pratt at jjpratt@law.emory.edu. In the subject line write "Public Interest Dinner Application". If you do not have access to email, then feel free to send a similar message by First Class Mail. In your message, briefly describe reasons for your interest in public interest law, any relevant background that reflects on your interest in public interest law and any other information that you would like us to know. We must receive your application to participate in this dinner series no later than 5:00pm Thursday, August 30.

We are looking forward to meeting you!
